

Viktoria Newsletter

October 2003

Innovation, Amsterdam, Seminars

Research Highlights

Successful Workshop on Open Source in Amsterdam, September 19

Jan Ljungberg and Magnus Bergquist of the Knowledge Management Hub arranged, together with Joseph Feller (University College Cork) a workshop on "Open Source Software Movements and Communities" at the International Conference on Communities and Technologies. See opensource.ucc.ie/ct2003/

MobiLearn at the Communities & Technologies Conference in Amsterdam, September 20-21

At this new conference, Johan Lundin presented his paper "Synchronizing Asynchronous Collaborative Learners". Only 24 papers out of 120 submitted were accepted. The conference gathered about 250 researchers from all over the world.

Successful Seminar on Command and Control Systems for Rescue Services, September 23-24

This seminar and workshop was organised by Viktoria, The Department of Informatics and the Swedish Rescue Services Agency. Participants from regional fire and rescue services discussed how trends in the society and changes in work practice in the rescue services could have implications on command and control system.

Viktoria Participates in Innovation Development Project Supported by VINNOVA

VINNOVA has appointed Truvé & Vasell Innovation to investigate how research from Viktoria and the Interactive Institute can be used as a foundation for new innovations.

Three Papers Accepted to the HICSS Conference 2004

Helena Holmström's paper "Virtual Communities for Software Maintenance", Dick Stenmark and Rikard Lindgren's "Integrating knowledge management systems with everyday work" as well as Fredric Landqvist and Kalevi Pessi's "Agent Action: Business Cases with Individualised Information Services in a Business Intelligence Context" were accepted to the HICSS 2004. See www.hicss.hawaii.edu/

Events and Opportunities

3-12 Oct: During the University Week, researchers from Viktoria will hold presentations. For more information and registration, see www.gu.se/universitetetsvecka/

15 Oct: In the first seminar in the VIT series this autumn, Urban Nuldén and Jonas Landgren from the Mobile Informatics Group focus on the conditions for doing research in the middle of practice. See www.viktoria.se/seminarium.

21 Oct: At this Business Technology Guest Seminar, Sven Hamrefors from Stockholm School of Economics, Center for Entrepreneurship and Business Creation, will talk about "The Attentive Organisation". See www.viktoria.se/seminarium.

The next newsletter will be published in the beginning of November.

Lena Holmberg, PhD, Industry Collaboration Manager
lena.holmberg@viktoria.se